A Message From Our Chancellor

The University of Tennessee Southern is a beacon of access and community engagement where the continuum of learning expands beyond the classroom and into the field. By fostering a culture of excellence, embracing innovation, and cultivating a sense of belonging, our academic programs prepare students for meaningful futures with in-demand careers.

Our campus home is one where we strive to ensure all people feel valued, supported, and respected in their pursuit of excellence—fostering a sense of continuous collaboration, empathy, and understanding. Firehawks are who we are. Our 'bonfires' create ties that bind.

Fire made us human and sets us apart. I invite you to visit and discover how finding your fire at UT Southern can help set you apart in an ever-changing world, because from a single spark something truly remarkable can grow into a future that burns bright.

Dual Enrollment

What are the benefits of dual enrollment?

- Expanding the course opportunities for outstanding high school students,
- Shortening the time to attain a college degree,
- Saving students and parents money,
- Providing students with college credits, and
- Allowing students to earn grades that will become part of their permanent college transcripts.

What are the possible risks of dual enrollment?

- The content of dual enrollment courses is academically rigorous to meet college standards and will not be altered to accommodate high school students.
- A low or failing grade in a dual enrollment course will become part of your permanent high school and college transcript.
- A low or failing grade in a dual enrollment course will negatively affect both your high school and college GPA.

Freedom To Deepen Your Bonds

Small campus. Big deal.

Campus life is the soul of UT Southern. Your student experience is much more than going to class. As a Firehawk, you'll be just as involved outside the classroom with activities like civic engagement and service, intramural sports, and student organizations designed to move you from where you are to where you want to be.

Framed by the rolling Tennessee hills, you'll fall in love with our beautiful historic campus in Pulaski, TN, while enjoying the freedom to discover your true self and blaze your own path.
